

First Step

Talk with your health care provider about medications that have been proven to help people become tobacco free.

- These medications don't make you quit using tobacco. Instead, they help you manage withdrawal symptoms (ex. irritability, depression)
- Medications can also help decrease urges and cravings to smoke.
- Most people use these medications for 3-6 months.

Next

Try out new behaviors that can replace smoking, chewing, or dipping.

- List healthy ways you can relax or deal with stress and practice them
- You already have effective planning and organizing skills for having your cigarettes/lighters with you, knowing when/where you can smoke. Use those same skills to plan to be tobacco free.
- Do at least one thing each day that brings you joy

On the way

- Imagine that you are tobacco free. Write down at least three positive ways your life will be different
- Set your date for being tobacco free or a schedule for cutting down
- Make your car and home tobacco free
- Plan how you will say "no" if offered a cigarette or other tobacco
- Write down 5 things you will do in the 3-4 minutes it takes to get through a craving (e.g., drink water, call a friend, take a short walk)
- Make a list of ways you will reward yourself for being tobacco free

Get the support that you need and deserve

- Let friends & family know specific ways that they can offer support
- Use the free NC Quitline telephone coaching service 1-800-784-8669 (1 800 QUIT NOW)
- Visit online sites like www.becomeanex.org, www.trytostop.org, or www.smokefree.gov (which also offers text support program)

HEALTH CARE

Being tobacco free makes a difference!

- Increased energy
- Decreased chance of cancer and heart disease
- Improved skin tone
- Fewer signs of premature aging, like wrinkles
- Better healing from illness and surgery
- More money to spend on things that are life-giving
- More time to spend with those you love
- Knowing you're in control of your life

What works?

By using both medication and counseling support you can greatly increase your chances of becoming tobacco free, even if you've tried before.

It takes practice

Just like any new skill or behavior, it may take repeated attempts to become tobacco free. Most of us didn't get up on a bicycle and ride the first time we tried. Each time you try, you'll be learning something to help you the next time, until you are able to say:

"I'm tobacco free!"
